

Foreword

This technical report presents the results of the final workshop of the Eighth AAAI Mobile Robot Competition and Exhibition. The workshop is typically held the last day of the conference, after all of the robot events have been completed, to allow the participants—mostly students—opportunity to describe the actual algorithms used and to share lessons learned. Participants are then invited to provide a paper for this proceedings.

– Alan C. Schultz
Naval Research Laboratory